This is to confirm that the School of Health Policy and Management at York University in Toronto hosted Professor Payman Salamati as a visiting scholar during his year-long sabbatical leave which began July 3, 2017 and ended June 27, 2018.

Professor Salamati worked on a project titled, "The social determinants of fatal injuries: A systematic review" and collaborated with Dr. Dennis Raphael on this project. Professor Salamati was actively engaged in our department during this period, providing lectures to students and faculty and engaging with members of our Department.

Sincerely,
