

emop 20 XIII
October 12 - 16
changing climate
changing parasites 21
Belgrade

Official Invitation Letter

September 10, 2021

Tehran University of Medical Sciences, Department of Medical Parasitology & Mycology, School of Public Health, Tehran, Iran
Att: Gholamreza Mowlavi

Dear Prof. Mowlavi,

On behalf of the Organizing Committee of the 13th European Multicolloquium of Parasitology (EMOP), I would like to express our great appreciation to you for agreeing to organize and chair a symposium and give an invited lecture at this conference, which will take place in Belgrade, Serbia, October 12-16, 2021.

You are invited to chair the symposium entitled "Paleoparasitology" and give an invited lecture entitled: "Paleoparasitology and new practical perspectives" on October 14, 2021 from 14:30 until 16:00.

As a quadrennial event that is the official congress of the European Federation of Parasitologists, EMOP is a long-lasting and cherished forum for the exchange of scientific advances and ideas in the broad field of parasitology and related disciplines. Though the COVID-19 pandemic brought unprecedented challenges, it also vividly showed the major importance of continuous discussions among scientists and practitioners.

Please consider this letter to be an official invitation to facilitate the processing of visas and/or documents needed to be able to attend EMOP 2021.

Looking forward to seeing you in Belgrade at EMOP XIII in October 2021.

www.emop2020.org

Dr. Olga Djurkovic-Djakovic

