

Short Biography:

Reza Shiari is a Professor in Pediatric Rheumatology at Shahid Beheshti University of Medical Sciences, Department of Pediatrics, and is currently Head of Department of Pediatric Rheumatology in Shahid Beheshti University. He serves as the Chairman of Iranian Board of Pediatric Rheumatology at Ministry of Health and Science in Iran. Professor Shiari received his M.D. in Medicine at Shahid Beheshti University, Medical Faculty and also finished there his residency in Department of Pediatrics. He completed his PhD and post doctoral fellowship at Hokkaido University School of Medicine, Japan. Professor Shiari is a member of the Pediatric Rheumatology European Society (PReS), Pediatric Rheumatology International Trials Organization (PRINTO), Iranian Pediatric Association and Pediatric Rheumatology Society of Iran (PRSI). Professor Shiari's interests include medical ethics, with clinical emphases on juvenile idiopathic arthritis, autoinflammatory diseases and juvenile systemic lupus erythematosus, juvenile dermatomyositis, juvenile scleroderma, and joint hyper mobility.

Professor Shiari has published several book chapters in Iranian medical textbooks, and more than 80 original peer-reviewed articles (and case reports) in medical journals.